Data Classification Updates

Russell Gatlin

Data Classification Updates

The Information Risk, Policy & Compliance committee has approved a new Security Control Family for Data Classification (DC).

- Public. Data that is openly available to the public. Few restrictions are placed on this type of data. See security control DC-3.
- University-Internal (formerly Controlled). Data that may be accessed by eligible employees in the course of university business. This data may be releasable to the public upon request, but requires protection and evaluation to ensure lawful release. See security control DC-4.
- Confidential. Data that is restricted because of legal, ethical, or other constraints, and may not be accessed without specific authorization. Improper release would have a significant adverse impact to the university and may be subject to notification requirements. See security control DC-5.
- Critical (formerly Restricted). Data that can likely result in criminal or civil penalties if inappropriately handled. This is the highest level of classification for data, and use is limited to explicitly designated individuals with a stringent business requirement. See security control DC-6.

Windows Updates

Justin Ellison

Windows Update Deployments

TAMU Security Control requires critical updates be installed within 30 days.

- Update Windows: Every Saturday and Sunday, 1am-6am
- Approved updates will install and automatically restart during maintenance windows. This is the only time automatic reboots will happen.
  - Users should save their work and log off of their DSA computers (leaving them powered on) at the end of the work week and on weekends.
  - If a computer is powered off or otherwise unavailable during the maintenance window, the next time the computer comes online the approved updates will begin installation.
  - This may trigger a message on the computer that a restart is requested.
  - We encourage users to restart at their convenience. Otherwise, the triggered automatic restart will happen during the next maintenance window.
